

To Whom It May Concern:

Since I have been a part of Campo Verde Baseball, Jackson Reid has been a key piece in developing our culture. The biggest benefit of having Jackson in our program is the intent he has when completing tasks. Every rep he takes in a training session or during a game has a goal that he wants to accomplish. The purpose he works with has helped him make some changes to his swing that initially led to a drop in results, but because of Jackson's ability to focus on the process he has come out on the other side of these changes to see the rewards of his work. Just as impressive is his ability to take feedback in a humble and positive manner. He does a great job of removing his emotions from feedback and using the message to help him continue to push forward, which is something he does in a mature manner well above his age. Our coaching staff is excited to have a person and athlete like Jackson Reid in our program, and he is someone who will bring a hunger to develop and a positive perspective to any program he is a part of.
